Advice from Experts

“I would recommend the app or website TweetDeck as a helpful tool. So much is done on Twitter in Utah politics—so having this tool helps you keep up to date with breaking news from news outlets, legislators, and advocacy organizations. You can sort your columns by who you’re following—from the Utah House to your favorite advocates to key hashtags like #utpol or #utleg”

RyLee Curtis

Campaign Manager

Utah Decides Healthcare

“Personally, I use the calendar constantly to know what is scheduled. A person can subscribe to various committee meetings and the minutes from those meetings. We also encourage people to use the website to know who their legislators are and on which committees they serve.”

Janis Baker Ferre

Utah Legislative Caucus for People with Disabilities

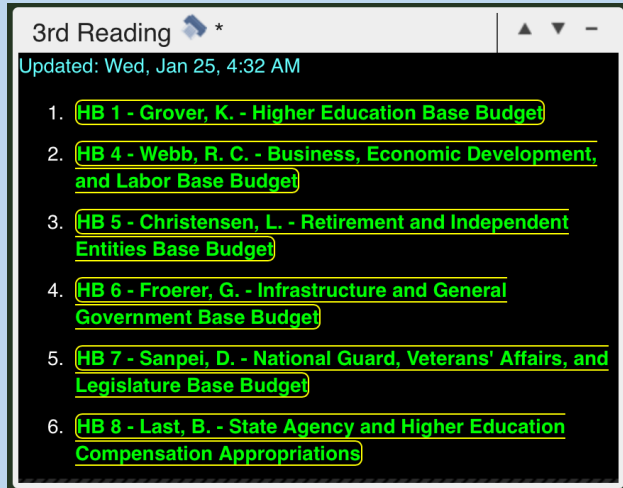

“At the Untied Way, we always send out the Find Your Legislator link early on so that folks can get engaged and learn who their reps are. I like to check out the committee meeting section in order to get a link to the materials and audio/video.”

Emilia Comai Wood

Digital Engagement Manager

United Way of Salt Lake

Advice from Experts

“I love the Reading Calendars. Once you learn what they actually MEAN and what information they are trying to convey, they can really help you keep track of when your bill might be heard (and whether you can sneak off the Hill for lunch or something, or even better, leave and go home for the day!).”

Anna Brower Thomas
Senior Policy Analyst
Voices for Utah Children

“Want to know who’s lunching in the middle of the rotunda or in the Hall of Governors? The Capitol Preservation Board actually has a public calendar on that. It’s a good way of knowing what’s happening on the Hill that doesn’t involve committees or bills. Find it here:

<https://utahstatecapitol.utah.gov/calendar>”

Ben Winslow
(@BenWinslow)
Reporter, FOX13

“Connor Boyack at Libertas has created a FANTASTIC Google Chrome browser extension called “Utah Law Formatting” that allows you to see modifications to bills in highlighted form. Some bills are super long and annoying, so this really does help. Find it here: <http://bit.ly/2CYNeOQ>”

Advice from Experts

“The Calendar feature is extremely useful. Being able to track committee hearings coming up over the week or the next day, especially because once you are in the meeting, you can easily click through to see the documents they are using, rather than having to race up to the front to get a paper copy.”

“If you're new to the legislative process (like I was when I started here), this page is full of extremely useful legislative guides: <https://le.utah.gov/lrgc/civiceducation.htm>”
