

The Daniels Fund Ethics Initiative at the University of Utah presents:

‘The Ethics of Big Data’ Panel Series

Friday, November 8th & Friday, December 13th

10:30am-12pm

Spencer Fox Eccles Business Building Auditorium in the David Eccles School of Business

Speakers Include:

Ben Wizner, director of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) Speech, Privacy & Technology Project

James Bamford, bestselling author and journalist, noted for writing about US intelligence agencies and the NSA.

Shima Baradaran, associate professor of law at the University of Utah. Her work has been featured in the New York Times, Forbes, the Economist, on National Public Radio and other media outlets.

Rebecca Rosen, senior associate editor and journalist at The Atlantic, who writes about the intersection of technology and society.

Jan Root, CEO of the Utah Health Information Network.

. . . and other experts. Both events are open to the public. Please be seated by 10:30am for a prompt start.